WRECKED AT SEA.

The "City of Columbus" Goes to Pieces in Mid Ocean.

One Hundred Persons Washed Overboard and Lost in the Deep.

A Man and Woman Lynched for Murdering a Child in Colorado.

SWIFT AND SURE VENGEANCE.

One Hundred Lives Lost.

Boston, Jan. 18.—The city of Columbus left Boston at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, carrying eighty passengers and a crew of forty-five. At 3:45 a. m. Friday, Gay head-light, bearing south, half east, the vessel struck on the outside of Devil's Bridge Buoy. The wind was blowing a gale west by north; the vessel immediately filled and keeled over, the water breaking and flooding the port side of the saloon. All passengers excepting a few women and children came on deck. Nearly all were wearing life preservers, all the boats cleared away, but were immediately swamped. The majority of the persons were washed overboard. Seven passengers left the vessel on a life raft and about forty more took to rigging. At 10:30 a. m. the Gay Head life boat put off and took seven persons. Another life boat put off between 12 and 1. The revenue cutter Dexter came along about 12:30 and sent off two boats. Twenty-one persons one of whom was dead, were placed aboard the Dexter, and after all the persons were taken from the vessel the Dexter proceeded to New Bedford. Three persons died after going aboard the Dexter.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

Boston, Jan. 18.—The City of Columbus had 80 first class and 22 steerage passengers, about a third of whom were ladies and children, and a crew of forty-five. About forty men took refuge in the rigging, where they remained until 10:30 a. m., when a life boat put off from Gay Head, and took away seven passengers. One died soon afterwards. Shortly afterwards another life boat put off to the distressed vessel and the mean while the revenue cutter Dexter came along and sent off two boats, and twenty-one men were taken from the wreck and placed on board the Dexter, four of whom died afterwards. After all the persons were taken off the Dexter sailed for this port, where she arrived this evening. Total number of persons saved, 231. Five dead bodies were recovered, and 119 unaccounted for.

Murderers Lynched.

Denver, Col., January 19.—Some three months ago Mary Rose Mathews, a bright, winsome little girl of 10 years was adopted from the Denver Catholic orphan's home by Mike Cuddyhe and wife, living on a ranche ten miles from Ouray, a small mining village in the southern portion of the State. Late Saturday morning little Rose died and was buried by Cuddyhe on a distant part of the ranche. The little girl had been cruelly treated from the first, so the neighbors said, and her mysterious death, and hurried burial aroused their suspicions and the coroner of Ouray was notified.

He immediately repaired to the ranche, found the grave and exhumed the body, when unmistakable evidence of a cruel death was revealed. The body was covered with knife wounds, one leg was broken, the skull crushed and the limbs frozen. She had no doubt been driven out in the winter storm to die. Cuddyhe and wife were immediately arrested and jailed. Yesterday they were tried and found guilty of murder. About one o'clock this morning a band of masked men went to the hotel where Cuddyhe and wife were held in custody, overpowered the sheriff's guard and took the prisoners away. They both cried loudly for mercy, but as they had ever been deaf to the pleadings of little Rose for mercy, so the vigilantes closed their ears to the cries of their prisoners and they were taken outside of the town limits, where the woman was hung to a ridge pole of a ranche cabin, while the husband was strung to the limb of a tree on the opposite side of the road. Their work done, the vigilantes retired quietly. The bodies were cut down and buried by the coroner to-day. John Carroll Cuddyhe, a brother-in-law, was arrested with the others but for want of sufficient evidence he was allowed to go. This is the first instance of woman lynchings in Colorado.

HON. WARNER MILLER.

The Junior Senator from New York.

The reputed Leader of the New York Republicans.

Senator Warner Miller, known more familiarly as "Wood-Pulp Miller," of Herkimer N. Y. was born in Oswego county, that State, August 21th 1838, and is therefore in his forty sixth year. He graduated at Union College in 1860, and then became a teacher in the Fort Edward Collegiate Institute but when the war broke out, in 1861 he enlisted as a private in the fifth New York Cavalry. He served with conspicuous bravery in the Shenandoah Valley being promoted to Sergeant-Major and Lieutenant. At the battle of Winchester he was taken a prisoner, but was finally exchanged after the close of the rebellion. Mr. Miller engaged in farming and became the owner of extensive paper mills in which enterprise he is still engaged. He was a delegate to the National Republican Convention in Philadelphia, in 1872, and in 1874 was elected to the New York Legislature, serving two terms.

Mr. Miller then entered National politics and was elected as a representative to the Forty-sixth Congress and was returned to the Forty-seventh. In 1881, when Conkling and Platt resigned their seats in the senate, Mr. Miller was chosen by the New York assembly to succeed Thomas C. Platt and took his seat October 11th, in the same year. His term of office does not expire until the 3rd of March, 1887.

Senator Miller by his recent manipulation of the Republican caucus of the New York Legislature securing the election by the Lower House of Mr. Sheard as its speaker, has won for himself the sudden reputation as being the leader of New York Republicans and the well known fact that the Senator is antagonistic to the present administration of Author gives especial significance to his political controlling power in his State as indicating that he will become a prominent factor in dictating against Author's renomination at Chicago next June.

Mr. Miller is a man of splendid physical and mental strength, and possesses that personal magnetism which wins the lasting friendship of those with whom he comes in intimate contact.
